

DOT DELIVERS

Small Business... Big Moves!

We know how convenient deliveries are in busy lives... ours included. There's nothing better than having the stress taken away and food being delivered right to your door. We are ever so grateful to the 3rd party delivery companies helping us serve our food, especially through lockdowns. However with very large commissions on every product they deliver to you, we think it's time we tried out something new.

We're trialling Dot Delivers! Our own team delivering direct to you! No middle man (well, apart from our current team of cracking drivers who know our products inside out) meaning we can offer you a much better service, directly! You even have the ability to choose your bagel from our inventory and use discount codes and gift cards as our whole system will be integrated.

Better yet... The saving on that large commission (it still hurts to say) can be invested back into our team, products & our shops!

So why not give us a try... We would love to hear your honest feedback and hopefully we can look to make this big move more permanent!
